

All About Mrs. Jones

Hello Mustangs and Visitors!!! :) It's a pleasure to have you stop by and see all about me.

High Achievement for EACH Student

Where do I begin? I am the youngest of 5 girls, born in a small northeast Arkansas town by the name of Osceola. After graduating with a class of 110 students, I pursued my Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Mass Communications and Theatre degrees at Tennessee State University in Nashville. Wanting to be the next director of Marketing or CEO of a Fortune 500 company, I continued my education and received my Masters in Business Administration. Only two classes away from completing my MBA, I was teaching in my teen Sunday School class when I heard the call. Yep, it was loud and clear. I was put here to teach. While finishing off my last two classes I enrolled in a teaching certification program, and the rest is history. This is my 12th year in education, and I've never looked back!! :) I am not only a teacher, but I am also a learner. I'm so thankful that I get to learn from our amazingly dedicated staff, proactive parents, and marvelous mustang students each day at Las Colinas Elementary. While I enjoy the work of caring for so many little ones that go to their loving homes after school, I'm blessed to go home and enjoy my two boys and husband. My goal each and every day is to make sure that every person that walks in this building, child or adult, leaves smarter and happier than they came. Our goal of High Achievement for Each Student is met through the Love, Leadership, and Learning we display at Las Colinas Elementary. It is our daily mission.

My Favorites:

Favorite Quote: “Those who row the boat generally don’t have time to rock it.” ~Author Unknown

Favorite Color(s): Green, Yellow, & Orange

Favorite Food: Mexican—I also love Chick-fil-a. :)

Favorite Hobbies: Reading, Singing, and Spending time with my family

Favorite Book: Mindset

Favorite Drink: Dr. Pepper and Starbucks Hot Chocolate

Favorite Candy: Snickers, Heath Bar, and Milk Chocolate Covered Almonds

Favorite Store: Target and Amazon